

Quality and design

Two hearts that beat as one

The very best quality and first-class design are our top priorities: from the time when the next collection is just the first glimmerings of an idea in the heads of our design teams; from the time when our sales staff are given feedback from discussions with customers that indicate a new trend.

Our fabrics must be both beautiful and practical; an ideal that is as classic as it is simple. At fine, beautiful means: fabrics that clearly state where they come from: from the country and from the mountains. To us, good means the virtuoso deployment of reliable yarns in Trevira CS and natural fibres such as wool, cotton and linen.

The end result: Twice annually, we present collections that bear the clear signature of fine and that prove our market leadership in the area of design and quality. That is both a claim and a promise.
